

Larry Glover-Wetherington

My calling and purpose is for the transformation of congregations and persons. My desire is to see churches and ministers realize their fullest potential through coaching that is life-giving and collaborative, facilitating your agenda as you perceive it to be from the Spirit's leading. I have been working with churches as transition pastor since 1992, leading congregational discussions and envisioning God's future. I lead the coach approach process as congregational, missional, and as spiritual discernment.
