

Canada

Do Marc & Kim Wyatt call Ottawa their home? Oui, it's true. They serve as mobilizers and encouragers among churches and mission organizations from Windsor (across the border from Detroit) to Quebec City including Toronto and Montreal.

Churches and individuals may join the Wyatt's on mission by participating with local churches and organizations who are seeking to be the missional church among the unreached and marginalized people groups gathering in Canada's cities.

From their post the Wyatt's serve as mobilizers and encouragers among churches and mission organizations from Windsor (across the border from Detroit, Michigan) to Quebec City, Quebec along the St. Lawrence Seaway, a distance of 15 hours travel by car or train. This region includes Toronto, Ontario Canada's largest and most diverse city. As well as Montreal, Quebec the nation's largest French speaking city, second only in population in the world behind Paris, France.

Churches and individuals may join the Wyatt's on mission by:

1. Praying for the Diasporas who have migrated to Canada and live without the knowledge or experience of the Gospel
2. Participating with local churches and organizations who are seeking to be the missional church among the unreached and marginalized people groups gathering in Canada's cities
