Dear Larry,

The Cooperative Baptist Fellowship of North Carolina represents one of Wingate's valued partners. Through our partnership, we are able to offer students an education that honors the values of "Faith, Service and Knowledge." These are values that are embedded in the seal of the University and they drive the University's mission.

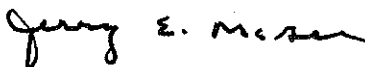

The following represents a few of the opportunities CBFNC and Wingate University are able to help our students "Major in a Great Life."

- Wingate's Board of Ministers offered seminars last year for area CBFNC ministers that were led by Dr. Dan Day, Campbell Divinity School, and Dr. James Dunn, Wake Forest Divinity School.
- Reverend Dane Jordan, Wingate's Minister to Students, continues to recruit students to participate in our Center for Vocational Ministry.
- Wingate values Dr. Wanda Kidd for her leadership with CBFNC's Colleague Winter Retreat for our students and for utilizing our campus as a training site for CBFNC's colleague ministry program for students serving regional churches during the summer.
- First Baptist, Monroe enjoys the talents of our students who participate in their "Choral Scholars Program."
- Several Wingate students are actively involved in area churches as interns or part-time ministry associates.
- In collaboration with CBFNC leadership, a youth leadership retreat is in the early planning stages.
- Numerous students receive valuable financial assistance as a result of the support we receive from the CBFNC Missions Resource Plan.

These are a few of the ways in which CBFNC and Wingate University are impacting students and regional churches.

We trust our partnership will continue to grow in the coming days.

Sincerely,

Jerry E. McGee
President
